DETAILED ACTION

Status of the Application

This Office Action is in response to applicant's arguments filed on 9/19/2008. Claim(s) 6 and 7 are pending. Claim(s) 6 and 7 have been amended. Claim(s) 6 and 7 are examined herein.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the 102(b) rejection of claims 6 and 7 as being anticipated by Stoner et al. (US Patent No. 6,403,640 B1) as evidenced by Stevermer (American family Physician, 2000) has been fully considered but is not persuasive as Applicant is now arguing based on amended claims. Since Applicant has amended the claims, said rejection is hereby withdrawn.

The following new rejections are made in the office action below as necessitated by amendment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Abrams (British Journal of Urology, 1997) of record.

Abrams discloses a study in which tamsulosin is administered and is effective in the treatment of lower urinary tract symptoms (LUTS) caused by benign prostatic obstruction (BPO) leading to rapid improvements in urinary flow rate and symptoms (page 590, results section; page 594, column 2). Abrams further teaches that the two main mechanisms underlying BPO are mechanical obstruction due to enlargement of the prostate (static component) and increased contraction of prostatic smooth muscle due to sympathetic tone, mediated principally by stimulation of α 1-adrenoceptors (dynamic component). α 1-Adrenoceptors are found predominantly in the bladder neck, prostate capsule and stroma, and there are few in the body of the bladder. This provides the rationale for using α 1-adrenoceptor antagonists; they relax the bladder neck and prostate smooth muscle and relieve the dynamic component of BPO, thereby increasing urinary flow and improving symptoms (page 587-588, bridging paragraph).

Abrams does not specifically teach chronic pelvic cavity pain syndrome or hyrogastric/perineal or lower backache.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to have employed tamsulosin as taught by Abrams to treat lower urinary tract symptoms (LUTS) caused by benign prostatic obstruction (BPO) as well as treating chronic pelvic cavity pain syndrome or hyrogastric/perineal or lower backache pain. One would be motivated because, as taught by Abrams, the significant improvements in urinary flow rate will also readily treat the ailments Applicant intends to treat, since all are associated with urinary dysfunction.

Conclusion

Claims 6 and 7 are not allowed.

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
